Movie series: “Sustainable Truth?”

Meet Green, an orangutan victim of human impact. Follow the devastating journey as her home is destroyed by logging, clearing for palm oil plantations, and the choking haze of rainforest fires. Hauntingly poetic and without narration, the film creatively depicts the effects of consumerism on tropical rainforests as we are faced with our personal accountability in the loss of the world’s rainforest treasures.

Participating: Yann Clough, guest researcher at CEC. An ecologist trying to understand, amongst other things, how changes to the way we use the land affect species communities and the services they provide to us.

All our movie screenings are free of charge
